Important Notice Pertaining to Types of Cleanings

Dr Harris and Dr Arciniegas will determine at the time of your exam the "type of cleaning" needed. Anyone who has bleeding gums or calculus(tartar) and plaque below the gum line, irritated gums or excessive stain cannot have a "normal" cleaning.

The procedure will be either a Full Mouth Debridment

1. Full mouth debridment is performed when heavy build up of plaque and calculus makes the completion of a comprehensive oral exam impossible. It is important to note this is a preliminary procedure. The patient may or may not require additional periodontal treatment.
2. Deep Scaling and Root planning Removal of bacteria calculus (tartar) and debris that has collected under the gum line. Follow up is a periodontal maintenance type cleaning every 3-4 months.

All Fees will be discussed prior to treatment
